March 1, 2003

On behalf of Federally Employed Women (FEW), it is my pleasure to invite you to participate in our 34th Annual National Training Program (NTP) "Building Tomorrow's Leaders Today" July 7-11, 2003 in Chicago, Illinois.

FEW's National Training Program has provided pertinent and quality training to thousands of women and men who attend each year, and this year promises to be better than ever. Patt Franc, NTP Chairperson, and her outstanding team have worked hard to align course offerings with OPM Leadership Competencies, the personal and professional attributes that define the skills of outstanding leaders.

FEW will host numerous agency forums in conjunction with the NTP. This provides an excellent opportunity for attendees to meet their agency officials and for the officials to provide up-to-date information on agency policies and initiatives.

In addition to more than 150 workshop offerings, FEW will host its annual tradeshow exhibition "Trends and Technology Expo: A Showcase for Quality Government" with a diverse group of vendors, exhibits by Federal agencies, educational entities, non-profit organizations, and many service providers.

Please join FEW for an outstanding week of training and networking in the Windy City, where we will "Blow You Away" with an unforgettable week!

Sincerely,

Patricia M. Wolfe
National President
